Christmas Seal Campaign Opens

Traditional Christmas Seals have been mailed to residents in Virginia, getting under the 1972 Christmas Seal Campaign conducted annually by local tuberculosis and respiratory disease associations in the State. Christmas Seals have a history dating back to 1907 when Emily Bissell, in an effort to raise money to save a small tuberculosis hospital on the Brandywine River in Delaware, originated the idea in the U.S. She raised $3,000 for the cause, and today people throughout the country join in the making of contributions to fight not only tuberculosis, but all respiratory diseases.

According to M. Cleveland Jones, president of the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, "In keeping with the times, the 1972 Christmas Seal Campaign in Virginia has been computerized. For the sake of efficiency in mailing, contributions will be sent to the Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association in Richmond.

"But let me assure all contributors," he went on, "that money you give will be returned to the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association for use in the area served by your association."

The local TB-RD association conducts year-round programs for the benefit of the community's respiratory health. Elementary schools receive free of charge the publication, Health Adventures, TB-RD Youth Boards work in junior and senior high schools presenting anti-smoking programs and other programs.

Area physicians and nurses are provided medical publications, and seminars on the latest treatment of tuberculosis and respiratory diseases are regularly presented for their continuing education.

TB patients are assisted in a variety of ways--transportation to the sanatorium, money for personal needs while at the TB hospital and gifts during the Christmas season. Respiratory disease patients receive assistance also from the TB-RD association.

The harmful effect of air pollution on persons suffering with respiratory diseases is another concern of the local association. Keeping the public abreast of the latest developments in federal and state regulations concerning the quality and ambient air has been a major goal.

Mr. Jones urged local citizens to support the efforts of the Central Virginia Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. "We need the help of our area residents," he states," not only financially, but also as volunteers. There are many opportunities for service at the association's headquarters at 105 High Street,

Turkey In The Straw Winked at His Mother-In-Law

What is all this turkey winking about? It happened like this. I Received many, many telephone calls concerning the article, "How Old Was Mrs. Billy Boy" and naturally, we talked about the old songs such as Nellie Gray, The Old Gray Mare Dying Cowboy, Turkey in the Straw and etc. No one remembered any of the verses to Turkey in the Straw, however, one fellow recalled hearing this line, "Turkey in the straw winked at his mother-in-law"... Does anyone know the words to this old tune?

Another gentleman remembered one verse of the old song but forgot the tune. Maybe someone knows the tune.

I was walking with a city girl when we spied an old pole-cat.

I said, they make stoles, fur hats and coats of such critters as that.

She said, "I'm gonna catch him, can you think what I gonna make.

I said, sister, I think you are gonna make a mistake.

The prize winning epitaph submitted by a lady was "here lies a man who dared to ridicule woman.

All this goes to show that people read the T- Virginian. Therefore, if you want anything from a horse to a husband try the Times-Virginian, want ads. If you want a horse, you want to get rid of -- try the ads. If you have a husband you want to get rid of - well, that's a horse of another color.
